Local Guard Unit Praised For Its Very Excellent Feeding

These men attended the training course at Ft. McClellan and prepared all meals according to U. S. Army mess schedule. The mess was inspected by General McMillan, Division Commander, Col. Robert A. Baldwin, 11th Infantry Regiment Commander, as well as by a Third Army Inspection Team. The local boy mess was officially rated as the "best in the 51st Division."

All of this goes to prove that there is a decent way to prepare army chow. When cooks instead of housewives are given the job they take a pride in the profession and do not just heat and water the raw material. Army practice now seems to be to give each man a specialty and help him become proficient in that. Schools are provided for whatever trade a boy wants and demonstrates a liking for—then it's up to him.

Methodist Youth Sponsors Work Day

Money-making schemes may come and go for various projects in this fast growing community, but something new has been added whereby these handling out money will get something in return. The good citizens of Belle Glade have always been very good about handing out money in the past but the Methodist Fellowship group feels that if people get something in return, namely, a car wash, lawn mowed, ironing done or a dog washed, things will be better in the future.

At a recent meeting at the Methodist parsonage the group hit upon a plan of this kind and as a result have designated Saturday, October 17 as "Work Day". This one day will be set aside by the group for working for anyone in Belle Glade, doing everything from baby-sitting to washing dogs. Money earned by each person will be put into a fund for furnishing the chapel of the new church.

"Work Day" will begin officially at 8 a.m. and continue until dark. Jobs to be done include cleaning house, baby sitting, mowing lawns, ironing running errands, washing windows, cars, dogs and doing about anything that needs to be done. A minimum fee of $10 per hour will be charged.

Glades Pioneer Is Drowned In Auto Accident Friday

Paul Johns, age 61, a native of Pensacola, Florida, and resident since 1918 of the Glades, was drowned Friday night when his car which he was driving on a dirt road skidded into the main drainage canal along U. S. No. 27 East of Boca City, according to known facts and reports of the investigating officers.

Paul, of Greek parentage, came to the U. S. in 1913 and ended up at what was then the Prison Farm of Clewiston, on the shores of Lake Okechobee, with youth, health and a lot of ambition.

Paul became a licensed pilot for his own plane and was often seen slipping into the local field with a load of produce from his island farm, to be transferred to truck for the local or distant market. "With a gallon of gas, a piece of wire and a pair of pliers, Paul could do wonders with his island landing and taking off from the island, loaded or empty," according to the men of his flying acquaintances.

As a citizen of the community Paul followed a very loyal and patriotic feeling, and joined in community efforts to the extent of his ability and appreciation. He was particularly effective in his consideration towards the local Legion Post. The present holdings of the Post were bought from Paul at a considerable lower figure than cash offers and on whatever terms the Post could pay.

stated: "The acceptance of Mr. Grant as Chairman of our 1954 Heart Fund Campaign starts the intensive work required to formulate all the plans for a successful Fund Campaign. The Executive Committee of the Heart Association has already met with Mr. Grant and the spirit and enthusiasm displayed by the entire group points to a most favorable Campaign."

Mr. Grant was born in Macon, Georgia and after attending Georgia Tech and Mercer University, entered the field of merchandising furniture. On January 14, 1931, Mr.

I am sure that most of the people feel as I do, that the Heart Association program is so important that they and their friends as well as every member of their family, should have heart education." So stated Mr. Grant at the Executive Committee Meeting.

of the First Baptist Church of Belle Glade held a very impressive coronation service at the church Wednesday, Sept. 23 at 8 o'clock.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, white chrysanthemums, green and white foliage and lighted tapers in candelabra. In pastoral formal gowns the girls entered in accordance to the steps they had passed in the work of the organization which fosters missions through detailed studies of scripture, mission books, mission history and actual organization of missions at work on the various fields.

As each candidate came to the platform she was questioned about the work she had accomplished and gave examples of her work which gave the audience an insight of simple scriptures, elaborate biographical sketches and long memory work learned following from Exodus (15:2).

~ Verses from Psalms (71:1, 2) ~
"Praise the Golden Text: "Be ye careful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations." ~
Bible passages include the following from Exodus (15:2):

"The Sunday school offers an opportunity for the development of creative friendships."

6. Families learn how to pray in Sunday school.

7. The Sunday school offers a yankick by which Christian families may measure their moral worth.

8. Lessons in stewardship remind each member of the family group that he has a definite responsibility for the welfare of others.

9. Class discussion offer students opportunities for re-examining their beliefs -- and help them to expand their knowledge.

10. Members of the class share their problems and are helped to build a home life based on the firm foundation of faith in God and a desire to do His will.

THIS WEEK'S SERMONETTE

Taken from Heart and Life

dwelleth in God, and God in him." This means that God has complete control of the whole man.

A love-controlled life is free from fear-- fear of what people may say, fear of death, for "perfect love casteth out fear."

This does not mean altogether natural fear is necessary in order for one to be self-controlled, but the almighty fear that hinders our Christian usefulness. The fear that keeps one from the ready conversation about Christ, prompt testimony, the natural tone of voice in prayer. Perfect love will make one natural in the discharge of his duties as a Christian. Life is not endured, but enjoyed.

Christ had His eye on the religious towards when He said, "Whoever, therefore, shall be ashamed of Me and My words, of him also shall the Son of Man be ashamed when He cometh in the glory of His Father with the holy angels."

The Apostle says, "And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, to the end He may establish your hearts unshakable in holiness."

Here, then, is a panacea for weak-kneed Christians.

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love,

It is somewhat difficult to always keep in mind that love is the greatest thing in the world. We get so full of ambition to do sensational things, to live in an experience of wisdom, to be known as people of great faith.

But love is greater than wisdom, learning, talents or even great deeds. Love is the essence of the Divine nature. God has many attributes -- Omnipotence and the like, but only one nature--God is love.

Love fulfills the law. It pleases out. It supplements what our meek judgments fail to come up to. God accepts our love to offset our failures to render a perfect service. Love is the sum and substance of true religion. There is nothing higher than pure love to God.

Love is the most winsome thing in the world. Men who can be driven are not worth driving. If we cannot love an enemy to death then He will always be an enemy.

If the life is to be controlled by love, the heart must be filled with love, and no heart is completely filled with love until it is cleansed from all sin and filled with the Holy Spirit.

"God is Love, and he that dwelleth in love,

GUN SAFETY through education is the aim of the National Rifle Association. Special permission has been granted this column to quote from an article on this subject in the current issue of The American Rifleman. As recently noted, good eye-sight is a "must" for hunters. So now to quote from the article:

"Let us look first at the record of the National Rifle Association. The thousands of senior and junior shooting clubs affiliated with us have as a cardinal principle knowledge of guns and their proper handling. In its 62 years of existence there is no single record of a serious accident or fatality on the ranges under their supervision. During the past 32 years more than two million hunters have participated in our junior shooting programs with only two minor accidents on record. Instructing in the rules of safety has inevitably prevented instruction in the rules of shooting—a system that certainly has paid dividends."

"The record was made under the controlled conditions of the rifle range. Will the same system work if it is applied to the hunter? Let us look at what happened in Iowa."

"During the past three years NRA members in the state and Iowa's Fish Wildlife and Conservation agency have conducted an intensive and broad gun safety program at the beginning of each hunting season. The result has been most gratifying for the hunting accident rate has fallen almost to the vanishing point."

"Gun safety through education has been clearly demonstrated in New York State. There, in accordance with a law adopted in 1949 every prospective young hunter must present a certificate that he has satisfactorily completed a course of instruction in the elements of safe firearms handling before he can obtain his first hunting license."

"Realizing the importance of gun safety through education the National Rifle Association has taken another long step forward in its campaign against hunting accidents. In cooperation with the National Education Association it has produced and this month made available for use throughout the nation a new, improved, comprehensive Hunter Safety Course. The course is adaptable for use in any community where alert, public spirited citizens, either as individuals or as a group, desire to apply to the problem of hunting accidents the same principles of safety education that have been so successful in the automobile driver's education field. Every inexperienced hunter, whether he be 16 or 60, may benefit from two hours of instruction provided."

"We cannot in the nature of things expect to achieve monumental results overnight, but there are certain things which we can do in our struggle against gun accidents and proper gun handling. The first, and most important thing is to carry on a continuous campaign of public information. Through the newspapers, magazines, radio, TV, through all media available we must hammer away at the theme of gun safety through education. We must encourage the inclusion of a course in proper gun handling in our local schools... caution and competence through education is indeed a small price to pay for the preservation of a life or the saving of a limb. Such must be the foundation stone of all our efforts... safety... gun safety... hunter safety... through EDUCATION."

"FURTHER this fall, like gold, will be where you find it. I know some Florida sportsmen have made plans to hunt in Canada, some of them in Alberta and Manitoba, others in the James Bay wilderness area. For my own part, I have been checking on the possibilities in some dozen states, and Cuba, the past couple of months. There is, of course, a little hunting left in Florida, back of the ten million 'POSTED' sign."

"But the small outposts at Lakeland, GEORGIA could hardly good to me on a recent visit to the state capital. As our population increases the hunting becomes less and less, and the recent announcement about there being 160,000,000 humans in the country now will not be classed as good news by America's hunters."

"PHEASANT shooting in the Dakotas will be 'out' for non-residents this autumn. These notes are being written at my recent visit to South Dakota, where I contacted old friends with whom I have hunted pheasants in other years. There will be a fair crop of pheasants this fall in South Dakota, but legal limits will be so small that a trip for the purpose of pheasant-shooting would hardly be worth while. The same is true for Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa, the three other best pheasant states. The last really good Dakota pheasant hunting was 7 years ago. So much for that."

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From

Washington — There's an old Chinese saying that one picture is worth ten thousand words. By the same standard, one personal inspection should be worth many words of testimony before a congressional committee.

Therefore, I urged Major General Sam Sturgis, Chief of the Army Engineers, to fly down to Florida to see first hand the potentially dangerous situation created by high water throughout South Florida. Efforts also were made to have personal inspections made by as many members of Congress as possible. Congressman Syd Herlong is exhorting the House Committee on Agriculture through the Chairman Abney Cox and other officers of the Central and South Florida Flood Control District already have made an earnest, personal plea to the administration to revise its attitude toward support of our vital flood control program. The ominous conditions in the Everglades now brings home to all of us how short-sighted is the type of economy which has virtually scuttled this program, and brought us to the shadow of another disaster, from which we are saved only by the whims of the winds in the Caribbean."

"We are continuing to preach the story that all Florida people of this program's need and hope that it will not take a great loss of time to open the eyes of this administration."

Subsequent to my last week's comment on the subject, President Eisenhower made his speech in Boston in which he referred to our bipartisan foreign policy. There was an indication that there may be some changes to bring a higher degree of bipartisanism into our foreign policy. I certainly hope this is true although so far there has been no specific moves in that direction. So far as we know there has not been the equalization among the leaders of both parties in decisions which actually establish the basic framework from which our foreign policy must be carried out. I think there should be more such consultation on the highest level."

"Opposing Sales Tax. Agitation appears to continue for federal sales tax to meet revenue needs. I personally have studied this suggestion and have become unalterably opposed to it. Such a tax would be particularly odious to Florida where we already are paying a state sales tax. To pile a federal sales tax upon this sales tax would be a pyramiding a burden upon those citizens least able to pay, would substantially increase the cost of living, and create new hardships, injustices and discriminations many times more serious than those that exist even now, and toward the correction of which much energy is being directed by those in Congress who formulate tax policy."

"News Notes Off the Cuff: General Van Fleet has been inducted for a post on the Latin American Cultural and Trade Center Authority. . . Earl O. Shreve of Fort Lauderdale is being called back from retirement to head the Treasury Department's Savings Bonds Division. . . Our ordial of the week to the Telephone Company for splendid cooperation with WFTS-TV at St. Petersburg which rushed its network connections to give West Florida the baseball World Series. . . This week I am visiting in the Pensacola and Panama City area, and attending the reunion of the fine and fabulous Williams family at Graceville."

Chicago — Accidents — $500. Did you include that figure in your family budget last year? That was the average cost of accidents per family in 1952, according to the National Safety Council.

"Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press, puts the national accident cost at an average of $200 per household. There was one accidental death in 458 households and one disabling injury in every five households."

EVERGLADES VOCATIONAL HIGH

NEA News

Our New Farmers of America organization which makes up 68 boys registered in High School grades 9-12 will hold a regular meeting on Thursday, Oct. 8. One objective of this meeting is to elect three more officers to complete the eight officer roster this year.

The second objective of this meeting is to appoint the committee to work out the NFA Program for the year. Due to high water the land laboratory farm area program has lagged. We hope to secure a tractor plow from one local farmer in order to properly turn the dried grass and other veglive matter under so it can decay. This will help the soil by replacing in it some of the minerals or elements that were extracted during the growth of the plants. The classroom for our agricultural classes has recently been painted. The shop building will be painted this week. We are trying to get everything in order before our state and district officials come down this fall on a visitation day."

The Bobcats went down to Jett Friday night when they met the team of Attucks High School, Dania, with a score of 32-0. This did not discourage them, however, they are more determined to conquer this Friday night when they will meet the team of E. O. Douglas High School, Sebring, Fla. On to victory Bobcats."

Local Negro Churchmen Join In Dedication Of Prison Farm Chapel In Well Attended Ceremony

The Chapel, which has a seating capacity of approximately 250 persons was jammed with visitors, relatives and officials as well as inmates of Glades Prison Farm on Sunday afternoon, September 28th, when local negro ministers combined to dedicate the building and its service.

The services were conducted by Rev. Milton Faison and Rev. G. E. Penson. Music for the service was by the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church choir, the Sunlight Jubilee Singers, both of Belle Glade, and the Rising Stars Singers of the Farm.

At the close of the service Harvey Poole presented Superintendent Cliff Greene, who in kind presented other officials and their guests.

Services at the Chapel will be conducted each Sunday by one of the local group of ministers, with dates of service arranged by the association.

No wonder Ford's the SIX they're swinging to!

HIGHER COMPRESSION Ford's power-contoured combustion chamber, with spark between intake and exhaust valves helps give higher compression, better combustion.

LOWEST FRICTION Ford's nearly equal bore and stroke ratio reduces piston travel to make Ford's Six the lowest-friction Six in America! It's the economy champ, too!

MORE GO PER GALLON Ford's Automatic Power Pilot squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas—regular or premium—for smoother power and extra savings.

CHOICE OF 3 DRIVES Only Ford in the low-price field lets you choose from a completely automatic transmission, gas-saving Overdrive, or easy-shift conventional.

And keep in mind that, with Overdrive, it topped all other cars for gas economy in this year's Motorgas Economy Run.

Of course, Ford's Six is just one of Ford's 41 "Worth More" cars. No other low-priced car offers both a Six engine and V-8 engine, a built-in Crestmark body and a carpet-smooth fine car ride! Get the whole "Worth More" story at your Ford Dealer's and you, too, will be joining the swing to Ford.

JOHN T. COLEMAN, a Southern Bell telephone man, rushed to the rescue when a lady fell into a 25-foot well at Andalus, Alabama. She was clinging—almost exhausted—to the well in 10 feet of water.

HE SAVED A LIFE WITH A GARDEN HOSE...

Making quick use of what was at hand, Mr. Coleman tied a length of garden hose to a tree, lowered himself into the well and supported the lady above water until she could be raised to safety with a rope. Then he applied first aid before an ambulance arrived. A courageous act? Yes. But equally important, quick thinking in an emergency. It speaks well of the type of men and women who provide your telephone service—often going beyond the call of duty.
